Family Tree Has Seven Generations

What must be a record for successive generations all born in Lennox and Addington County is held by descendants of Hermer Eliea Long, who lived in Camden Township until his death in 1858.

Five subsequent generations were born in this county and from the grandson of Hermer Long another branch of the family has extended to the seventh generation.

Hermer's son was Joshua Long, who was born in Camden in 1835. His son was Sanford Henry Long, born in 1859, also born in Camden, whose son, Russell Harold Long, was born in 1884 in Sheffield Township. His son, Harold Bryden Long, born in 1917, lives at Tamworth, and he has a son, James Ralph, born in 1951, the sixth generation.

Sanford Henry Long also had a daughter, Gertrude, who married Martin Barnhart. Their daughter, Thressa, married Clayton Woodcock, and their daughter, Helen, is married to William Edgar, and they have a daughter, Rose Marie, 14 years of age, making the seventh generation on this side of the family tree. All were born in this county as well.

Brydon Long recalls much of the history of his family and has many interesting records and historical items pertaining to the past. His grandfather, Sanford Long, built a barn at Tamworth in 1900, part of which is still in use, and which contains the last of the old hand-shaved shingles believed to have been made in this area and still in use.
